Tukituki Trails

Home to historic villages and majestic homesteads, boutique shopping and charming wineries, as well as some of New Zealand's most spectacular countryside, Central Hawke's Bay is a gem waiting to be discovered.

And yet, it is the getting there that makes Central Hawke's Bay so special.

A journey through Central Hawke's Bay, with the rugged Ruahine Ranges holding vigil in the west and miles of white sand beaches snaking around each corner on the east, will surprise and delight even the most seasoned traveller.

This corner of New Zealand's Food and Wine Country blossoms with each season. Visit during the spring to see lambs frolicking and daffodils bloom; during summer to explore the Tukituki Trails and miles of pristine coastline; come in autumn to see the exquisite splendour of the changing leaves at the region's historic homesteads; or in winter hunt for truffles before settling fireside in luxury accommodation.

Dispersed throughout these stunning landscapes are towns and villages filled with everything from eclectic antique stores and fine art galleries, to seaside villages where you can buy the best puaa pie around.

Begin your journey today.

The Tukituki Trails paint the perfect picture as they weave through the shade of old willow trees.

Made for the whole family, the Tukituki Trails are a gentle 12-kilometre meander on limestone pathways with a grade two mountain bike trail that runs parallel to the limestone paths.

Stretching out in both directions from Russell Park to the swing bridge in the East and Lindsay Bush in the West, the limestone trails follow the Tukituki River as it meanders through the Central Hawke's Bay countryside.

While the mountain bike track is mostly flat, it has been engineered to offer a range of obstacles from sharp banked turns, tight twists, a few small bridges and a jump or two for the more experienced mountain biker.

From the swing bridge you can choose to cross the river and continue back along the far side of the river in the berm tracks or turn off and try a bit of downhill mountain biking in Gum Tree Mountain Bike Park.

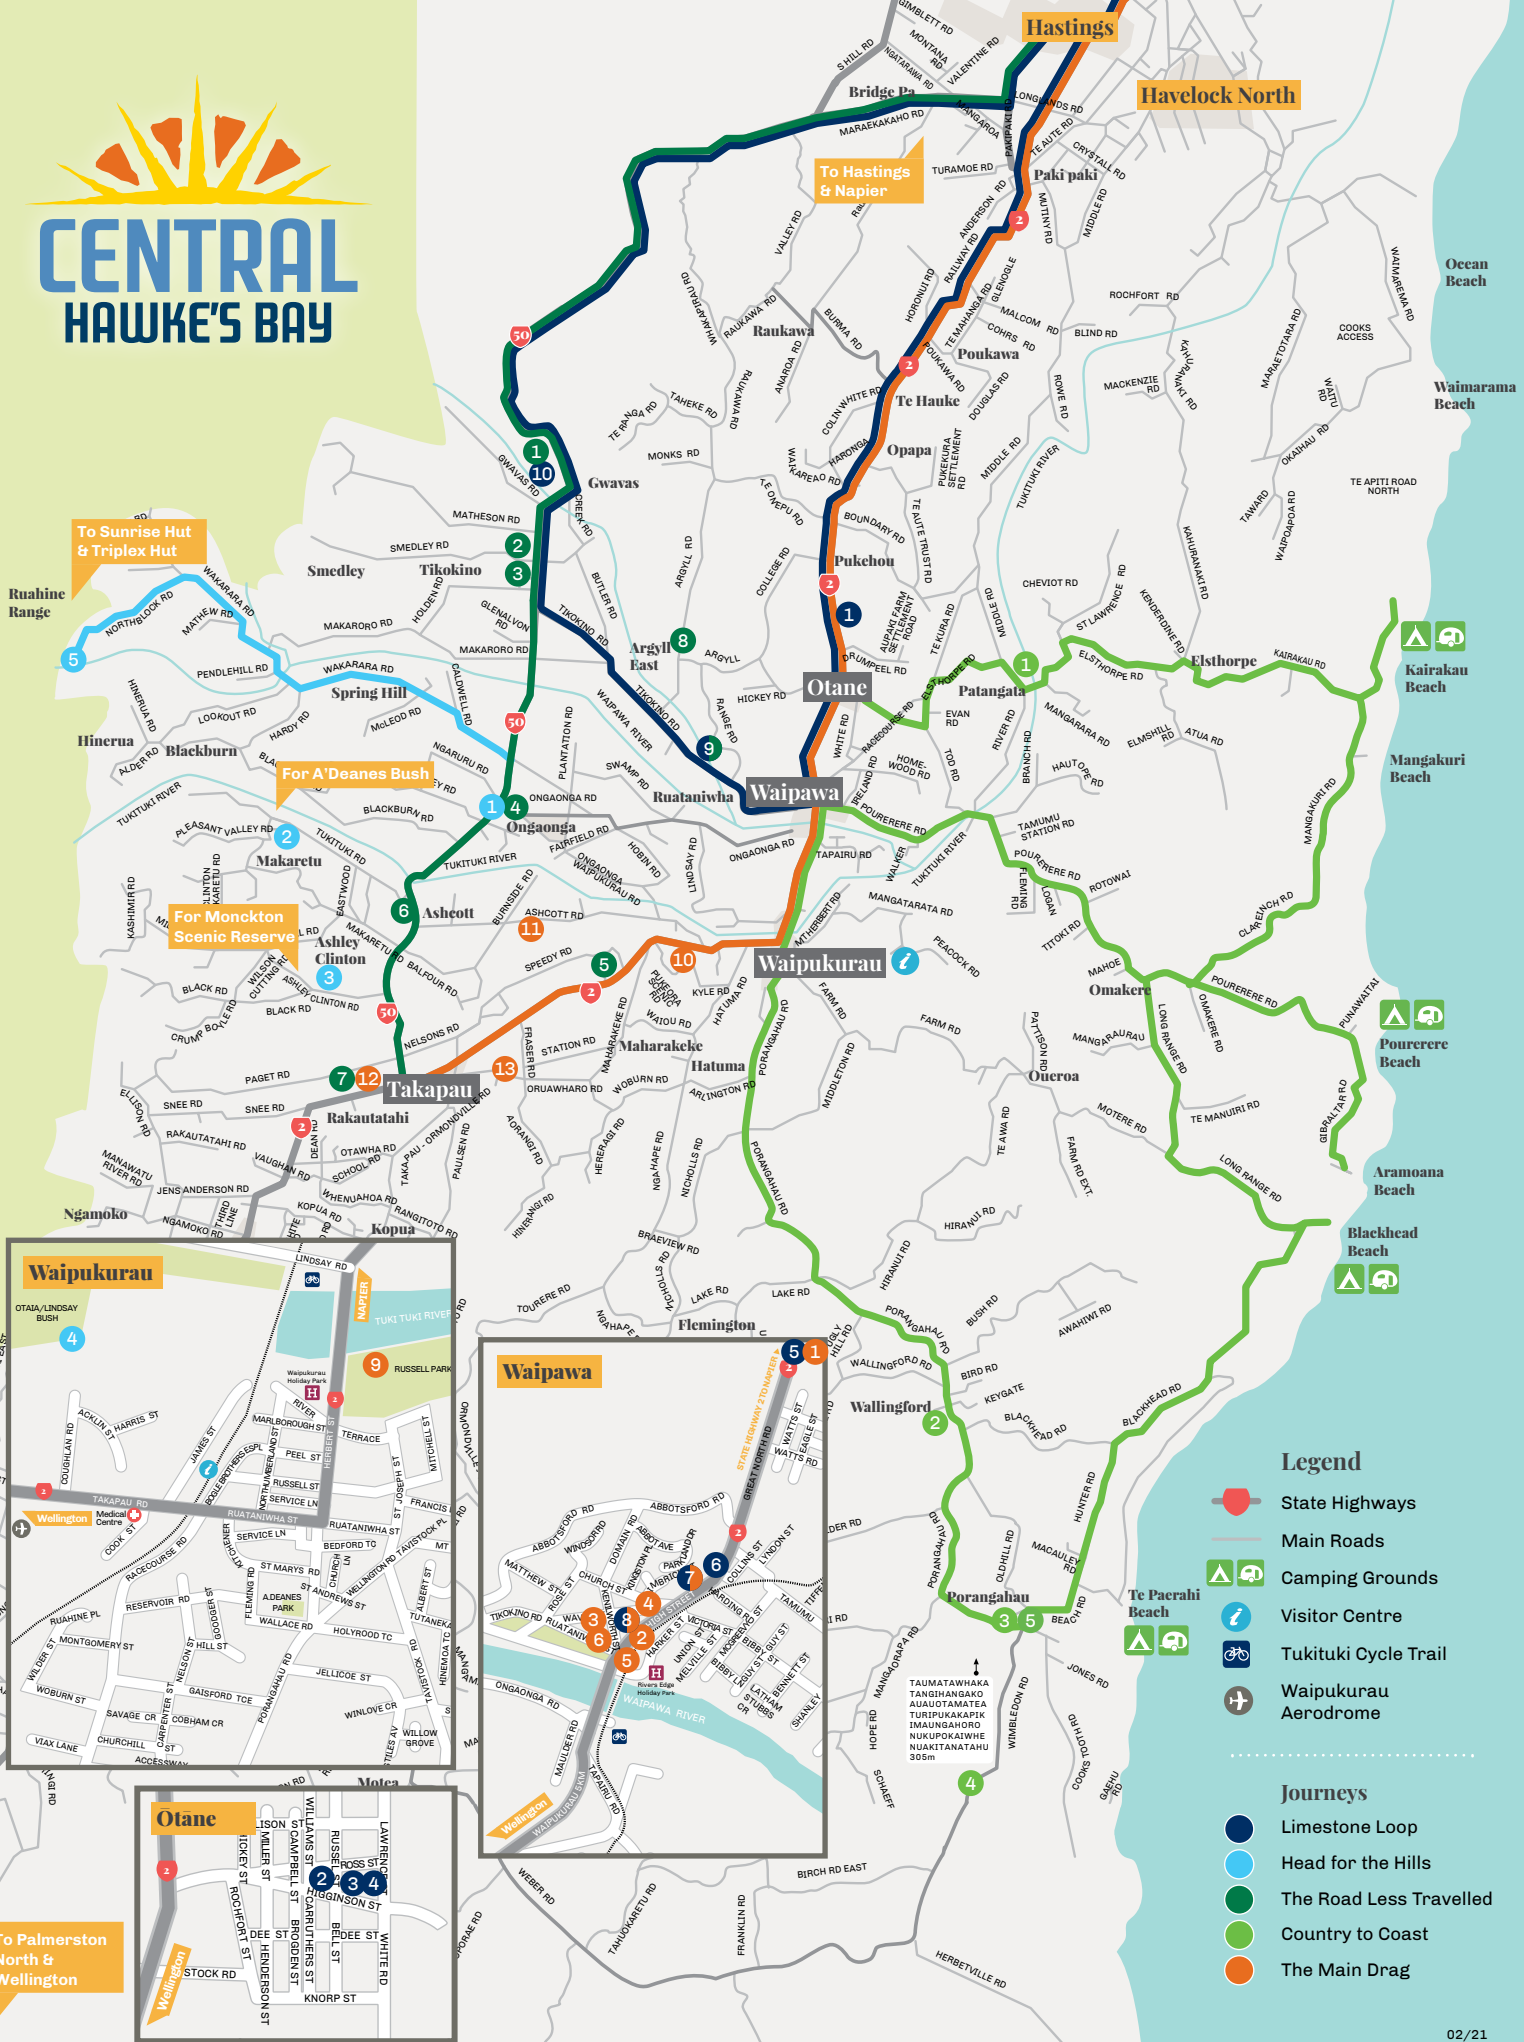

Whichever path you choose, this is a delightful journey and one that everyone can enjoy.

The Limestone Loop showcases award-winning wineries, fabulous local shopping and a thriving local market, gorgeous cafés, original homesteads and gardens, an insight into the region's history at the Central Hawke's Bay Settlers Museum, and so much more.

Your journey will take you through Central Hawke's Bay's three biggest towns – Waipukurau, Waipawa and Ōtāne – where you will find delightful cafes, unique galleries and antique stores, beautiful walkways and spectacular countryside. Prepare for the quirky and the quaint on this journey.

While away the hours at your choice of café – choose from Paper Mulberry Café, a stunning café on State Highway 2 that is housed in an historic, blue church-like building, Ōtāne's McCauley's Store, located in the old Ōtāne Public Library, or Waipawa locals' go-to Nola's.

Don't drive by Ōtāne without enjoying the easy 2.3km Historical Walk which takes in 23 sites of significance to the township, or the Ōtāne Market, held every Sunday from 9am to 1pm and showcasing quality local produce, preserves and sweet treats.

The Main Drag

State Highway 2 takes you straight through the heart of Central Hawke's Bay.

And while it may be the main link between Manawatu and Hastings and Napier cities, it is well worth slowing down to enjoy the journey, stretch your legs and even rest your head for a night.

Waipukurau is a great stop for the kids. Visit the newly revamped Russell Park playground or bring the bikes and cruise along the Tukituki Trails. The more adventurous might like to head to Backpaddock Lakes, a purpose-built watersports park inland from Waipukurau, while those after a more relaxing afternoon need only travel another 10 minutes up the road to Oruawharo, where high tea in the gardens is a delightful diversion.

Waipawa's jewel is the Central Hawke's Bay Settlers Museum. A fabulous way to spend an afternoon, children and adults alike will enjoy the museum's exhibitions on the everyday life of early settlers. Dotted along the main street are a number of boutique shops and cafes, including the notable galleries Tattertales, Creative Fusion and Artmsphere Gallery, which are all worth a visit.

Other must-dos include a jaunt up Pukeora Lookout, to take in the expansive views of Central Hawke's Bay below, and Junction Wines, a boutique winery run by a former All Black.

The Road Less Travelled

While it is the second route between Napier and Wellington, there's nothing secondary about the journey along State Highway 50.

TOP TIP * This journey photographs wonderfully during spring when there is snow on the Ruahine Ranges and lambs and daffodils in the paddocks.

Winding its way through the foothills of the Ruahine Ranges, State Highway 50 showcases spectacular Central Hawke's Bay countryside. Stunning in every season this driving route – a favourite of vintage car enthusiasts – comes alive under the colours of autumn and in spring, when roadside paddocks are filled with bouncy lambs.

State Highway 50 takes you past several Central Hawke's Bay jewels, including Gwavas Garden and Homestead and Ashcott Homestead. These great dames of Central Hawke's Bay were both built more than 130 years ago, and offer a glimpse of the grand beginnings of this region. The gardens at both venues are exquisite.

Tikokino Peonies and Taniwha Daffodils make the highway come alive during spring. Tikokino Peonies bloom from October to November, while Taniwha Daffodils is a hallmark of spring in Central Hawke's Bay.

Detour just off State Highway 50 to discover another gem, Ongaonga Historic Village. Arriving here is like stepping back in time. Awash with historic buildings and with a fabulous museum filled with machinery, tools, history and photos from the region's early settlers, Ongaonga is a fabulous diversion worth exploring.

Sumptuous detours include Kune Café & Bar, which boasts delicious, homely meals and stunning countryside foods.

Country to Coast

Central Hawke's Bay is home to six stunning, scenic beaches.

TOP TIP * Walk from Pouterere or Aramoana Beach to Blackhead Beach at low tide and explore the rockpools of Te Angiangi Marine Reserve. Be sure to pack snorkels and explore Stingray Bay.

With expansive white sand that goes on for miles, stunning marine reserves offering excellent diving and snorkelling and incredible fishing and surfing on offer, there's something for everyone.

An easy 30 minutes' drive from Waipawa, Kairakau Beach is the first beach you will come across. Slightly different to other Central Hawke's Bay beaches, the settlement here is tucked under looming cliffs and the beach peeks out to greet you as you drive past the lagoon.

Over the hill from Kairakau Beach, Mangakuri is a smaller, slightly more rustic and natural, but no means less beautiful. Mangakuri has beautiful white sand and is a lovely spot if you like a beach without the hustle and bustle.

Pouterere Beach is next and with its miles of golden sand, proves to be one of the most popular spots for day-trippers, surfers and sunseekers. It also offers great fishing, diving areas and safe swimming in its lagoon.

Further south is Aramoana Beach, which is steeped in history with the McHardy Homestead standing tall as you drive in. The farm's original Woolshed, built in 1906, is a heritage listed building and has been lovingly restored. It sits right on the beachfront, and is a real sight to see.

Blackhead Beach is a fantastic spot under an hour's drive from Waipukurau. Home to Te Angiangi Marine Reserve, which spans between Blackhead and Aramoana Beach, there are lots of rockpools to explore and underwater creatures to meet.

Last in the line-up is the Porangahau or Te Paerahi Beach, which stretches out for miles. This golden sand beach is perfect for surfing, surf casting, to fly kites, swim, or simply soak up some sunshine. It is also home to some incredible fishing and diving spots too.

Head for the Hills

From Waipukurau, journey inland towards the rugged Ruahine Ranges; here you will find lush pockets of native bush, incredible walks and tramps, and a quaint historic village to top it all off.

With the vast Ruahine Forest Park bordering the edge of Central Hawke's Bay, this is a journey by both car and by foot.

Begin with a stop at Ongaonga Historic Village. With its collection of historic buildings gathered from all over the district and clustered around the Department of Conservation's field office, Ongaonga has created a picturesque historic village that children and adults alike will love.

Short, mostly flat walks can be found at Monckton Bush, A'Deanes Bush and Lindsay Bush, where children will be amazed at the enormous weta that can be found in weta hotels.

Those with an appetite for something more adventurous will love Ruahine Forest Park. Covering about 94,000 hectares, Ruahine Forest Park offers wonderful forest and alpine walks.

The central and northern Ruahine range are a hikers and hunters delight. Clear rivers, attractive beech forest and alpine tops make for some fascinating walks.

However, the undisputed jewel of the park is most certainly Sunrise Hut.

Located in the mid-eastern Ruahine Forest Park, Sunrise Hut sits atop of the Ruahine Ranges and is the perfect place to greet the new day.

This large hut is a popular recreational destination for day trips or weekend visits. It is heated by a woodburner, while the walk is an easy day hike for many family groups. In winter, there is generally snow around the hut.

TOP TIP *

Whether you wake up early and complete the climb to Sunrise Hut before dawn, or book a night in the hut and climb the day before, make sure you are awake and at the summit before sunrise.
